P&EOLC Strategic Drivers

- Strategic priorities of “Independent living through choice and control” and “Achieving care closer to home,” outlined in 2023-33 HSCP Strategic Commissioning Plan.
- Scottish Government strategies clearly focus on access for all, planning and information as well as support.
- Over the past 10 years Forth Valley has yet to meet the Scottish average for Quality Outcome Measure 10: Percentage of end of life spent at home or in a community setting. This data is published by Public Health Scotland.

Initial Consultation

- Initial consultation took place across Stirling, Clackmannanshire and Falkirk between April and May 2024.
- Engagement was sought from those who had views on palliative and end of life care. The feedback gathered contained a good mix between people with professional experiences, both within the NHS and third sector organisations, and those with personal experiences.
- In total 202 people responded either in-person or online.

Areas of Priority

Five key themes were repeated throughout both the in-person sessions and the survey responses.

These were:

- Communication
- Coordinated Care
- Future Planning
- Education/ Awareness for families and carers
- Bereavement Support

Draft Vision

Building upon preparatory work and taking into account what people told us about their experiences of P&EOLC, the following vision has been developed.

“All those with palliative and end of life care needs are able to access compassionate, responsive and co-ordinated care and support throughout their palliative journey in their preferred location, in line with what is possible.”

Next Steps

- This stage of consultation will enable a final draft Strategic Plan to be completed.
- A paper containing the final draft of the Strategic Plan will be presented to both Clackmannanshire and Stirling, and Falkirk IJB's for consideration.
- An Implementation Plan will be written based on the priority areas within the Strategic Plan which will identify actions across Forth Valley.
- Future commissioning activities in this area will draw their focus from the Strategic Plan.
